

Business workshops free of charge for vets

The Southern New Hampshire Chapter of SCORE has announced that its small business training workshops are now available to veterans free of charge.

Among the workshops the chapter offers are Start Your Own Business, Sales and Marketing, Simplified Business Plan, Small Business Taxes, QuickBooks for Small Business, Nine Steps to Planning a Profitable Website, and Getting More Traffic to Your Website and Measuring Results.

"Everyone is facing enormous economic challenges today, and that includes veterans," said Southern New Hampshire SCORE Chapter President Richard Clough. "We believe we owe a huge debt to all those who've served in our military. By providing our workshops to them at no cost, it may help our veterans become successful entrepreneurs. It's one of the ways we can pay back."

A schedule of Southern New Hampshire SCORE's upcoming workshops can be found at www.score-manchester.org.

The Southern New Hampshire Chapter of SCORE, which covers Nashua, Manchester, Concord and the surrounding areas, has more than 60 current and former business executives who provide free, confidential, one-on-one business counseling and training workshops for area businesses.

Call (603)666-7561 or visit www.score-manchester.org for information on counseling, upcoming workshops and volunteer opportunities. SCORE is a national nonprofit organization and a resource partner of the U. S. Small Business Administration.

UL
11/2/11